The Artemis Program: Legacy of Human Space Exploration

By Pete Magnani, Publisher

The Artemis program is a Moon exploration initiative led by the United States National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA). Its goal is to return humans to the lunar surface and establish a permanent presence there as a stepping stone for future human missions to deeper space. Florida has played a large role in this and all previous programs.

The Early Space Race

During the Cold War, a space race began between the United States and the former Soviet Union, driving an unprecedented era of scientific exploration. The Soviets were first to send a human into space on April 12th, 1961. In response, President John F. Kennedy challenged the nation "to achieve the goal, before this decade is out, of landing a man on the Moon and returning him safely to Earth."

Project Mercury (1958–1963)

Project Mercury included 25 flights between 1958 and 1963, six of which carried astronauts. Its main objectives were to orbit a human spacecraft around Earth, study human performance in space, and safely recover both astronaut and spacecraft. More than two million people from government agencies and aerospace industries contributed their expertise to make the project possible. Mercury proved that humans could function in space for periods of up to 34 hours in weightlessness.

Unclaimed property includes dormant bank accounts, unclaimed insurance proceeds, stocks, dividends, uncashed checks, deposits, credit balances and refunds. It can also include watches, jewelry, coins, stamps and more. $23.8 million was returned in unclaimed property last month, the CFO said.

According to the Florida Division of Unclaimed Property, one in five Floridians has unclaimed funds from a forgotten financial account.

FEDERAL FUNDING FOR CAUSEWAY REPAIRS

Pinellas County commissioners unanimously approved a Local Agency Program agreement, and a resolution with the Florida Department of Transportation, for funding of hurricane repair on county segments of the Dunedin Causeway.

As part of the agreement, FDOT will fund up to $1.3 million, and the county will pay the remaining $105,000 of the $1.42 million project, which will focus on eroded right-of-way, shoreline stabilization and bridge repair.

FLORIDA LAGS IN TIPPING SERVERS The Restaurant Trends Report, powered by Toast, a restaurant point-of-sale platform, uncovers key trends across the restaurant industry through aggregated sales data from approximately 140,000 bars and restaurants nationwide. According to the report, while declared tips at full-service restaurants rose slightly in 2025, Florida tied Nevada for third lowest tip rates in the country, with both states averaging 18.2 percent. California took first place of the worst with a 17.3 percent average and Washington state came in second with 17.8 percent. Delaware remained the best state for tipping for the second quarter in a row with an average of 22.1 percent.

AIRPORT IMPROVEMENTS St. Pete-Clearwater International Airport (PIE) is currently rescoping the Terminal Improvement project to meet budget and infrastructure priorities. With the immediate need for additional parking, the Parking Garage project was prioritized in their Capital Improvement Plan.

The plan, approved last year, includes a 2,000-space parking garage to replace the 76-spot "Strawberry PIE" lot. The garage is expected to open in Summer 2027 along with a Terminal Improvement Project, with approximately $110 million allocated for upgrades including more terminal seating and new jet bridges.

Terminal Improvement Design work is expected to resume soon. The work will involve improvements to the existing terminal building, as well as a terminal building expansion just north of baggage claim with jet bridges.

In other PIE news, Mark Sprague was named Director of St. Pete - Clearwater Airport. Sprague became the Deputy Director in 2015 and then the Interim Director in October of last year, where he guided strategic planning, oversaw daily and emergency operations and led construction planning for a new terminal building and parking structure.

The Space Race, Continued

Astronaut Buzz Aldrin on the Moon, NASA

Project Gemini (1961–1966)

Conceived in 1961, Project Gemini followed Mercury and tested equipment and mission procedures essential for the upcoming Apollo Moon missions. Its main goals included evaluating long duration spaceflight (up to 14 days), perfecting orbital rendezvous and docking techniques, improving re-entry and landing methods, and studying the effects of extended space travel on astronauts. Named after the constellation "The Twins," Gemini spacecraft carried two astronauts per mission. Between 1965 and 1966, ten Gemini missions flew with sixteen individual astronauts.

Project Apollo (1961–1972)

Project Apollo conducted eleven crewed missions, including six successful Moon landings. These followed a series of uncrewed test flights.

In July 1969, Apollo 11, crewed by Commander Neil Armstrong, Command Module Pilot Michael Collins, and Lunar Module Pilot Edwin "Buzz" Aldrin, achieved the first lunar landing. Armstrong became the first human to walk on the Moon, followed by Aldrin.

In April 1970, Apollo 13 launched with the goal of becoming the third lunar landing. Two days into the mission, an oxygen tank in the service module exploded, crippling the spacecraft's life-support and power systems. The landing was aborted, but Commander Jim Lovell, Pilot Jack Swigert, and Lunar Module Pilot Fred Haise returned safely to Earth using backup systems, splashing down in the Pacific Ocean.

By the mid-1970s, political tensions between the U.S. and the Soviet Union had begun to ease. Competition gave way to cooperation with the Apollo-Soyuz Test Project, setting the stage for international partnerships in the Space Shuttle Program and later the International Space Station (ISS).

The Space Shuttle Era (1981–2011)

Beginning in 1981, the Space Shuttle Program flew 135 missions and carried 355 astronauts from 16 countries into space. Each shuttle consisted of an orbiter, two reusable solid rocket boosters, and a disposable external fuel tank. The system could carry up to eight astronauts and 50,000 pounds of payload into low-Earth orbit.

Over three decades, the reusable orbiters Columbia, Challenger, Discovery, Atlantis, and Endeavour conducted satellite launches and repairs, carried out scientific research, and helped construct the ISS. However, NASA tragically lost two crews of seven astronauts in the 1986 Challenger and 2003 Columbia accidents. The program concluded in 2011 with Atlantis's final flight. It was retired due to high costs, aging technology, and safety concerns.

The Artemis Program: A New Chapter

Established in 2017, the Artemis Program marks NASA's return to lunar exploration, aiming to use the Moon as a waypoint for future human missions to Mars and beyond. At its core is the Orion Multi-Purpose Crew Vehicle (MPCV), a partially reusable spacecraft designed by Lockheed Martin Space Systems. Modeled after the Apollo Command and Service Module, Orion includes an aluminum Crew Module (CM) paired with a European Service Module (ESM) that provides power and propulsion. It can support a crew of four for up to 21 days undocked or six months while docked. Orion is launched atop NASA's Space Launch System (SLS) rocket and equipped with a launch escape system for safety.

Artemis I, launched on November 16th, 2022, sent an uncrewed Orion capsule around the Moon. Artemis II, launched on March 30, 2024, carried four astronauts on a lunar flyby-returning humans to deep space for the first time since Apollo 17.

Artemis III, scheduled for 2027, will test a Human Landing System (HLS) in Earth orbit, and Artemis IV, planned for 2028, aims to land astronauts on the Moon for the first time in over half a century. Subsequent annual missions will establish a permanent lunar base for scientific research, resource development, and preparation for crewed Mars missions.

Artemis II: "Integrity" Sets New Records

Sixty-five years after the first human spaceflight, Integrity—the name chosen by the Artemis II crew for their Orion spacecraft, launched from Florida's Kennedy Space Center's Launch Complex 39B on Wednesday, April 1st.

The mission began with Orion entering Earth orbit, where Commander Reid Wiseman, Pilot Victor Glover, and Mission Specialists Christina Koch and Jeremy Hansen tested life-support systems, including the water dispenser, firefighting masks, and onboard toilet. On day two, Integrity set off on a free return trajectory, looping around the Moon and returning to Earth without major propulsion maneuvers other than course corrections.

The crew of NASA's Artemis II mission (left to right): NASA astronaut Christina Hammock Koch, Reid Wiseman (seated), Victor Glover, and Canadian Space Agency astronaut Jeremy Hansen, NASA

On April 6th, Integrity flew within 4,067 miles of the lunar surface and reached 252,756 miles from Earth setting a new record for the farthest crewed mission in history. The spacecraft and crew reentered Earth's atmosphere on April 10, splashing down safely in the Pacific Ocean off San Diego, California, at 6:07 pm Eastern Time. Recovery was carried out by a joint NASA-U.S. Navy team.

Artemis II achieved multiple milestones, including traveling a record distance of 252,760 miles from Earth and completing a 694,481-mile round trip. Christina Koch became the first woman, and Jeremy Hansen the first non-U.S. citizen, to travel to the Moon. This historic mission paves the way for humanity's return to the lunar surface for the first time in more than fifty years.

The Kennedy Space Center is open to the public. They provide tours of each mission's equipment. It is located at Space Commerce Way on Merritt Island. Visit KennedySpaceCenter.com for more information and tickets.

THE LIVING DECLARATION: THE DUNEDIN HISTORY MUSEUM CELEBRATES AMERICA 250

By Vincent Luisi, Dunedin City Historian

Our founding fathers may have written the Declaration of Independence 250 years ago, but residents of Dunedin and the surrounding area will want to remember the signing in their own unique way with the "Living Declaration of Independence."

The "Living Declaration," allows local individuals to duplicate a word of the original Declaration at one of three signing sessions in Dunedin. Once complete, the words will form an entirely new replica of the original document.

The "Living Declaration" program is an ambitious effort on the part of the Dunedin Historical Museum to bring the Declaration to the people, and more importantly, to make it "come alive." The museum staff feels "this project will have so many positive results because everybody who participates in this America 250 program will develop a sense of pride and patriotism."

This event will give individuals in the community of Dunedin the opportunity to get involved with this project while actually learning about our government and history in the process. The project is one of the events sponsored by a Duke Energy America 250 Grant that was awarded to the museum for 2026. The document will be the focus of a city commission meeting where the Mayor, Commissioners and invited individuals will transcribe the names of the original 56 signers on the original document.

Three locations and dates have been selected for individuals to participate and have the opportunity to transcribe a word to create the copy of the "Living Declaration." The first location is at the Dunedin History Museum from May 26th-31st from 11am-3pm. The next location is at the Dunedin City Hall from June 1st-7th from 11am-3pm. The final location is at the Dunedin Public Library from June 8th-14th, from 11am-3pm. The final completed document will be on display for the America 250 event being held on July 3rd at the TD Ballpark / Dunedin Stadium.

Besides the "Living Declaration", the Dunedin Museum will have a major display from May 25th-November 13th related to Florida during the American Revolution. The museum will also have other activities including a play on the Declaration of Independence and a reenactment camp with Revolutionary-period soldiers on Saturday, June 20th at Andrews Memorial Chapel at Hammock Park. Visit DunedinMuseum.org or call (727) 736-1176 for more information.

NEW DOG IN TOWN

After the short-lived Kiosk closed last summer, locals began to wonder what was next for the cute, outdoor venue. The Flyin' Bulldog, located at 828 Highland Avenue, opened in late February. It is the vision of Brooklyn natives Jason and Monique Vasilakos and themed after their beloved English bulldogs, Smashington and Ophelia. The Flyin' Bulldog is described as a chef-inspired elevated sandwich shop and outdoor restaurant.

Some of the sandwiches they offer are the "Cluck Around N' Find Out" which is their take on a fried chicken sandwich, classic Philly Cheesesteak, "The Bear," a slow-cooked Chicago Beef, the Flyin' Grouper, and the 'Shroom.

The Flyin' Bulldog is open Wednesday-Sunday from 11am-6pm. Follow them on Facebook for entertainment and specials.

WHERE TULUM MEETS THE GULF COAST Señor Rita's is undergoing a bold transformation as a celebrity chef-driven, upscale Mexican dining destination that fuses the relaxed luxury of Tulum with Michelin-caliber service and an atmosphere that demands to be savored.

At the helm of this reimagined kitchen is Chef Jordan Arcuri, two-time Food Network champion, celebrated Executive Chef, and the culinary force affectionately known as The Beef Queen. Chef Arcuri brings a fearless, flavor-forward approach to every dish, elevating traditional Mexican cuisine with refined technique, premium ingredients, and a creative vision that is entirely her own.

The redesign of the space is as ambitious as the menu. The rooftop will be completely reimagined with a full Tulum-inspired aesthetic: organic textures, lush greenery, ambient lighting, and open-air energy that transports guests somewhere between the Caribbean coast and the streets of Mexico City. A brand-new full floor above will expand the experience upward, offering additional dining, private event space, and premium views of downtown Dunedin.

Senor Rita's is located at 923 Broadway. Follow them on Facebook for specials and the entertainment lineup.

ROCK THE HARBOR The Original Crabby Bill's family wanted to thank everyone who came out to their very first Rock the Harbor at Crabby Bill's Palm Harbor. Rock the Rocks began at The Original Crabby Bill's on Indian Rocks Beach after the 2024 hurricanes to bring the community together. Each month it continued to grow, and when they added the Palm Harbor location at 114 Florida Avenue in February 2025, they knew a recurring event like this would thrive there.

After months of planning, Rock the Harbor finally came to life in March, and they are just beginning. As Rock the Harbor continues to grow, they want to include the community even more. If you're interested in becoming a vendor or sponsor, email Tiffany@CrabbyBills.com.

Rock the Harbor is set to be every first Saturday of the month. The next one will be on May 2nd in collaboration with Hero Fest. Crabby Bill's Palm Harbor is located at 1114 Florida Avenue.

BYE BYE BORING BROWS Salon Edin is a luxury beauty destination in Dunedin, established as Beach Babe Salon in 2023 and rebranded in 2024. After significant hurricane damage, the salon was fully remodeled, from top to bottom, and is now ranked among the top three beauty salons in the Dunedin area using their Benchmark Score on BusinessRate.com. A Benchmark Score is a comprehensive 0-300 performance metric that goes beyond simple star ratings by analyzing businesses against local competitors using advanced Google review data.

They offer hair color, hair extensions, permanent makeup, nails, barbering, tiny tattoos, and a curated boutique, along with their in-house luxury extension line, the Edin Collection.

Owner Melinda Bishop has been licensed in permanent makeup since 2021 in Michigan and now offers these services in Florida. Recently they have added "Microblading" to their many services. Microblading is a semi-permanent, manual tattooing technique creating hair-like strokes for fuller, reshaped eyebrows. The procedure typically lasts 1-3 years, with touch-ups recommended every 6-12 months.

Salon Edin is located at 952 Patricia Avenue. For booking reservations visit SalonEdin.com or call (727) 386-5918. Follow them on Facebook and Instagram for upcoming events and specials.

NEW HOTEL AND THEATER DOWNTOWN

Dunedin-based Mazas Development's new mixed-use project, The Main Street Exchange, has been approved by the Dunedin City Commission at the beginning of March. The development will transform a long-time, vacant office building and parking lot at 830 Douglas Avenue into an 89-key boutique hotel, a curated food hall and market, retail space and a theater. The proposed theater will hold 200-300 people and will double as an event space for weddings and exhibitions. Mazas hopes to have the permits for the project by the end of the year or beginning of 2027.

MOVING EAST The last tenant in the shopping center next to BayCare Ballpark, the spring training home of the Philadelphia Phillies, is moving east. Floor & Décor is moving to the prior location of the Rooms-To-Go Outlet Center and a portion of Best Buy at 21411 US Highway 19. This move, most likely happening in the fall, will set the stage for a mixed-use development that is still years away.

MORE PARKING IS COMING In the heart of Downtown Clearwater, at the corner of Pierce Street and Osceola Avenue, the new Osceola Parking Garage will do more than solve parking demand. The 397-space public garage also introduces 12,000 square feet of prime ground-floor retail. The project is designed to support restaurants, specialty shops, and retail services that thrive on foot traffic.

Groundbreaking took place in December, with completion anticipated in January 2027. The city is currently accepting inquiries about the retail space at MyClearwater.com.

WORLD CUP 2026

By Pete Magnani, Publisher

The World Cup, held every four years, features competition among national teams of the members of the Fédération Internationale de Football Association (FIFA), the governing body of international competition. Prior to the inaugural World Cup held in Uruguay in 1930, football's paramount tournament took place at the Summer Olympics. It has been included in every Summer Olympic Games with the exception of the inaugural games in 1898 and the 1932 Games, where it was omitted due to a dispute between FIFA and the International Olympic Committee over the status of amateur players. Although the game is still an Olympic sport, the World Cup is considered the sports highest achievement.

The first two World Cup matches were held on July 13th, 1930, with the US defeating Belgium 3-0 and France besting Mexico 4-1. Uruguay became the first World Cup winner, defeating Argentina 4-2 in front of 93,000 viewers. 13 countries from North America, South America, and Europe took part in the inaugural tournament, with the field expanding to 16 in 1934, 24 teams in 1982, and 32 teams in 1998.

The first Women's World Cup, which was not a FIFA-sanctioned event, was held in Italy in July 1970. Several countries lifted bans on women's football during the '70s, resulting in new teams being established in many countries. In 1988, FIFA hosted a Women's Invitation Tournament in China with twelve national teams competing. Norway defeated Sweden 1-0 in the final match, with Brazil taking third place. The opening match drew 45,000 spectators, and tournament's success led to FIFA establishing a Women's World Cup.

The inaugural FIFA Women's World Cup was held in China in 1991. 12 teams competed, with the US defeating Norway 2-1 in the final match. The event has been held every four years since, during the year following the men's World Cup. The field increased to 16 teams in 1999 and 24 in 2015. In 2023, Australia and New Zealand hosted the FIFA Women's World Cup for the first time as joint hosts, and the number of participants was expanded from 24 to 32. Brazil will host the 2027 tournament.

FIFA World Cup 26 will take place June 11th- July 19th and will feature some notable firsts. The tournament will include 48 teams for the first time, expanding from the previous field of 32. Co-hosted by the United States, Canada, and Mexico, it is the first men's World Cup tournament to be co-hosted by multiple nations and the first hosted or co-hosted by Canada. Morocco unsuccessfully bid to co-host, the country's fifth unsuccessful attempt.

In the US, games will be played in Dallas, Atlanta, Houston, New York/New Jersey, Kansas City, Los Angeles, Philadelphia, Boston, Miami, and the San Francisco Bay Area. Canadian host cities include Vancouver and Toronto, and Mexico's host cities are Mexico City, Guadalajara, and Monterrey.

Team USA will face off against Paraguay on June 12th at 9pm, Australia on June 19th at 3pm, and Turkey on June 25th at 10pm. Visit FIFA.com for more information.

LET'S GATHER AGAIN: DUNEDIN'S 55+ SOCIAL & REAL ESTATE Q&A NIGHT

By Alison Ross Tompkins, Broker Associate
for Coldwell Banker

After such an enthusiastic response to our first 55+ Cocktail Party, I'm excited to invite Dunedin residents to our second 55+ Social & Real Estate Q&A Night. It's clear that so many neighbors are eager to connect, share experiences, and talk openly about what the next chapter of homeownership might look like.

The event is Saturday, May 16th from 5-7pm at Sea Sea Riders, 221 Main Street, Dunedin. This casual get together is designed for adults 55+ who want to stay informed about their housing options, meet other local residents, and enjoy a relaxed evening out. Whether you're thinking about rightsizing, preparing for a future move, or simply gathering information, you're welcome to bring your real estate questions-big or small.

I'll also be joined by a special guest mortgage lender who can answer questions about:

- Buying a home in today's market
- How lending works for 55+ buyers
- Reverse mortgages and when they make sense

Many homeowners are curious about these topics but rarely get the chance to explore them in a friendly, no pressure environment. This is a casual, pay your own way event. Sea Sea Riders offers a great menu and a welcoming atmosphere, and guests are free to order whatever they'd like at their own expense. If this is your first time attending, you'll find a warm, easygoing group of neighbors who enjoy connecting, learning, and supporting one another. Please RSVP directly to me so we can plan for seating.

Reverse Mortgage Myth vs. Fact

(A little teaser-this is a topic our guest lender knows a lot about.)

MYTH: "I heard I can't leave my house to my kids if I get a reverse mortgage."

FACT: Many homeowners can leave their home or remaining equity to their heirs. Several factors - such as home value increases over time, choosing to take less equity upfront, or using a reverse mortgage simply as a standby line of credit can help preserve equity.

The bigger question for many families is this:

Does supporting a parent's comfort, independence, and quality of life in retirement matter more than a potential inheritance?

A reverse mortgage can be one tool that helps make that possible. It's always worth having an open conversation with your heirs about what's most important to everyone involved.

Please RSVP directly to me so we can plan.

A TALE OF MANY GENERATIONS: FROM SWING SETS TO SELFIE STICKS

By Bob Griffin, Contributor

My parents were born in 1921 and 1922 -smack in the middle of the Greatest Generation-and honestly, their résumé is exhausting just to read: the Great Depression, the Stock Market Crash of 1929, World War II. Casual stuff. I'm a Baby Boomer, born in 1953, and I've had my own highlight reel of chaos: Vietnam, JFK, Nixon's dramatic exit, the Challenger explosion, and COVID-19. Our kids? Split between Gen X and Millennials-they've inherited 50 years of "events," bless their hearts. Turns out, no generation gets off easy.

Let's take a little journey through time. Buckle up, because we're covering roughly 120 years of humanity awkwardly figuring itself out.

First up: The Greatest Generation (1901–1927). These folks survived the Great Depression, fought in World War II, and came home to build the modern world-all without a single motivational podcast. They valued hard work, sacrifice, and keeping their emotions deeply, deeply buried. Their idea of self-care was "walking it off." They were, objectively, tougher than all of us and they absolutely knew it.

Hot on their heels came The Silent Generation (1928–1945), and no, they weren't called "silent" because they were shy. They just kind of got sandwiched between two massive historical events and decided to keep their heads down and work. They were the original "don't make a fuss" crowd. Reliable, disciplined, and deeply confused by the generations that came after them.

Then the war ended, and apparently people celebrated enthusiastically, because suddenly we had The Baby Boomers (1946–1964). The largest generation in history, Boomers grew up during an era of unprecedented prosperity. They protested Vietnam, invented rock and roll culture, and then-plot twist-grew up and became the establishment they once raged against. They also really, really love talking about how cheap houses were in 1978.

Next came Generation X (1965–1980), the generation history almost forgot. Raised by latchkey, MTV, and general neglect, Gen Xers became the original cynics. They watched disco die, saw the Cold War end, and somehow survived without helicopter parents or participation trophies. They're fine, by the way. They don't need your validation. They never did.

Then came the Millennials (1981–1996), and oh boy did the internet change things. Millennials grew up during the rise of the web, graduated into a financial crisis, and got absolutely roasted for eating avocado toast instead of buying homes -as if brunch choices were the reason housing prices exploded. They invented the "hustle culture" they secretly hate, and they're currently managing the world while also managing crippling student debt. They're doing great! (They're not doing great.)

Generation X Kids

Generation Z Kids

Hot on their heels: Generation Z (1997–2012). Gen Z never knew a world without smartphones and had their formative years upended by a global pandemic. They're hyper-aware, digitally native, socially conscious, and have absolutely no patience for corporate nonsense. They communicate largely in memes and are terrifyingly good at calling out hypocrisy. Boomers find them exhausting. Gen Z finds Boomers exhausting. It's very mutual.

Finally, the newest kids on the block: Generation Alpha (2013–present). These tiny humans are growing up with AI, iPads in kindergarten, and parents who document their entire lives on Instagram. We genuinely don't know yet what they'll be like as adults, but statistically at least one of them will invent something that makes all previous generations feel very, very old.

So what's the big takeaway? Every generation thinks the ones before them were too rigid and the ones after them are too soft. Every generation faces challenges unique to their time. And every generation, without fail, eventually turns to the next one and says, "You have no idea how easy you have it."

To which the next generation rolls their eyes-and then goes and changes the world anyway.
